

Dear Members:

The management team and staff at East Coast Credit Union have exciting news to share with you!

Co-operation Among Co-operatives

As a co-operative financial institution, we are always looking for new ways to collaborate with other co-operative businesses for the benefit of our members and our credit union. We have been exploring opportunities to expand our footprint to downtown Halifax and in recent weeks once such opportunity was presented to us. We are happy to announce that we have secured a location with Provincial Government Employees Credit Union (PGE) at 1718 Argyle Street. Construction is scheduled to begin in February with the goal of opening for business in May.

This co-location initiative will provide members who live, work, shop or visit in that area with convenient access to a new, modern branch, onsite ATM, and designated parking, a rare commodity in Halifax's core downtown.

Progress updates

We will provide updates on the construction of the new location on our website and social media channels so stay tuned! Of course, staff will be happy to answer any questions when you visit your branch.

Finding new and creative ways to improve service to our members and community is a top priority for East Coast. We are looking forward to continuing to help you meet your financial goals now and in the future.

Sincerely,

Ken Shea, CEO
East Coast Credit Union

Q&As

Is East Coast considering a merger with PGE?

No. Co-locating with PGE is a great opportunity to provide more value to all our members while effectively managing our costs.

Are any East Coast staff losing their jobs?

There will be no job losses as a result of the co-location initiative.

When is the new location opening?

We will start construction in March with the goal to be operational for the second quarter of 2018.

Will progress updates be provided?

Yes. We will be posting milestone updates to our website and social media channels throughout the construction of the new branch. Staff will also be happy to provide updates when you visit a branch.
